Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The History and Development of Races: Annual Address Before the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, Tuesday Evening, Feb, 23, 1869 It has been said that History is Philosophy teaching by example, and from the history of nations past and present, without respect to geographical location, form of government or the operation of mere physical causes, certain important and invariable principles, so general as to have become inherent and controlling laws in shaping and directing the current progress and final destiny of nations, are educed and established. The diligent and interested explorer among the sparse and doubtful materials, exhumed from the buried and forgotten past, as among the superabundant and confused mass of facts and events of later and remembered times, cannot but have discovered the existence of these immutable principles, the knowledge of which casts so much light upon the otherwise dark and mysterious mazes of history. The moral, intellectual and physical qualities and manifestations constitute individual and personal character. These qualities and manifestations when aggregated and controlled by the domestic, social and political relations, constitute the character of society and the state. The first is Biography, the latter History. It is not good for man to be alone, is a Divine decree. To be solitary, is to be selfish. To be exiled or imprisoned from human society, is the direst punishment that can be inflicted on living man.
